

Dramatic Male Youth #1

I'll share my dream first. Would that help?

My dream is to find love. I want to find that special love that makes you glow inside. Like lightening has struck your heart.

I want the kind of love that when you are together, you feel like a shooting star, hurtling through space, falling through the sky and in to that person's arms...

Safe and untouched by the darkness all around you. Protected and loved by that perfect person you can see yourself with forever.

What is your dream?