

Many Evidence Interest in Little Theatre

The Chilliwack Little Theatre entertained a capacity audience of members and friends Wednesday evening, February 5, at a most enjoyable private performance in the Parish hall.

Business of the evening was conducted by the President, Miss McNaughton. A great deal of interest centred in the announcement that the Little Theatre group would compete with Agassiz and Cheam teams before a Vancouver adjudicator in the Upper Fraser Valley Dramatic Festival. This interesting event will take place shortly in the high school auditorium. The whole-hearted co-operation and attendance of the community is desired.

With business disposed of, the High School Dramatic Club then gave a repeat performance of three excerpts from "Twelfth Night." These scenes were presented in a very spirited manner.

An informal talk by Miss McNaughton on Shakespeare and his time proved most enlightening.

The audience was then treated to a clever comedy with a distinct medical flavor. Those participating were: Amy Hutcheson, Isobel Marr, Freeman Snider, Reg. Scott, Noel Butchart. This play was directed by Miss Keenleyside.

Coffee, sandwiches and cookies were then dispensed by the convener, Mrs. Hallman, and her assistants, from a table gay with a red and white centre motif. From then dancing was enjoyed until a late hour. It is most gratifying to the executive to note the interest taken in these performances.
